STRIKE SPREADS IN ALL FIELDS

Bituminous Operators Admit The Loss Of Ground.

New York, April 11.—A rapid spread of the coal strike into non-union strongholds was admitted today at headquarters of the bituminous operators' association.

"The enemy is gaining ground much faster than we anticipated," said the president of the Pennsylvania Company. He quoted a telegram from Greensburg, Pa., in the heart of the disputed nonunion territory, which said:

"Practically all of the southern part of Fayette County now is affected by the strike. Also another mine in the Greensburg field, one in Logan and three in Westmoreland field."

According to the bituminous operators, organizers for the United Mine Workers of America have practically unionized the Westmoreland and Fayette County fields since the strike was called ten days ago. Phillip Murray, vice president of the mine workers' international, corroborated the operators' reports of rapid unionization of the Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Eastern Kentucky districts.

"At the close of last week 50 per cent of the nonunion men had joined in the strike," he said. "Today, according to meager reports from our representatives in the field, we are fast approaching the 75 per cent mark."

Mr. Murray asserted that the ranks of the strikers in both bituminous and anthracite fields had been swelled by nearly 100,000 since the walkout, and the production of non-union mines cut by several million tons weekly.

Government View on Agreements Explained.

Indianapolis, April 11.—Ending a series of conferences of two days with federal officials here Attorney General Daugherty announced tonight that the government would not permit coal operators and miners at any wage conference that may be held by them to repeat acts, which he said had brought on the indictments in the Federal Court here charging them with conspiracy to monopolize the coal industry in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

"A little more consideration," said the attorney general, "will be given by the government in connection with whatever agreement, if any, is entered into, while the negotiations are taking place. This may prevent our embarrassments and proceedings afterward."

Mr. Daugherty's statement was made at the conclusion of his mission here dealing with possibilities for ending the general suspension of work in the coal industry, brought by a failure of operators and miners to negotiate new wage scales. On leaving here tonight for Washington he declared he was "perfectly satisfied" and announced he planned further conferences bearing on the coal situation.

Didn't Meet Miners.

Altho the headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America in this city, Mr. Daugherty did not have any meetings with the miners' officials but confined himself to conferences with Judge A. H. Anderson and other federal officials. All conferences were said to relate to the pending Sherman anti-trust cases, which some operators have declared barred the possibility of any new wage conference with the miners. No new action in these cases was promised as a result of the attorney general's conferences, and in a formal statement Mr. Daugherty added that "perhaps no legal action by the government will be necessary in the coal strike dispute."

He declared he did not come here determined to take action.

Referring to a prospective wage conference, Mr. Daugherty said the government had not opposed a conference, but had presumed one would have been held before April 1, "for the parties to agree upon a legitimate program."

After asserting that the government could not force a conference, his statement in part added:

Violations Must Cease.

"Whether a meeting is held or not the government will maintain successfully by any proceeding that may be necessary that agreement, heretofore reached between the operators and miners, year after year for many years, which are a violation of the law and for which indictments have been found, shall not be repeated. Repetition of these things will be to the disadvantage of the government's policy because they are a violation of the law and work a hardship upon the consuming public. No "horse play" or pretended misconception on the part of anybody will change the government's position in this regard.

"As to the indictments pending in this court for violations of the law on the part of many of those parties heretofore, I have only this to say, that certain things charged in the indictments were violations of the law, and the government will not, by trade of compromise, consent to them being done again. If many of the things done at these meetings time and time again are not repeated, miners will get a fair return for their labor, operators will get a fair return on their investment and the consumer will get the product he is entitled to at a fair price."

CLEVELAND DROPS UNION CITY WORK

Departments Go On Open Shop Basis As Labor 'Preference' Is Barred.

Cleveland, April 10.—Open shop conditions will prevail in all city departments during 1922 as a result of a decision reached at a board of Control meeting this morning.

The board decided to disregard all agreements now in effect with the various unions, but agreed to pay union wage scales throughout the various departments.

In the past there have been no written agreements with any of the unions, but for years there have been unwritten agreements, especially governing the employment of union men at the municipal light plant.

There the union has always received the preference. It is said, and in other municipal departments the preference has been "unofficially" shown men with union membership cards.

Now even the verbal agreements must go, according to City Law Director Lamb. The unions will be notified that the policy of the city has been changed and that the administration will abide by no agreement, either verbal or written.

"We will take the men as they come," Mr. Lamb said. "The union men will not be given the preference, but they will not be given the preference. Prevailing union wage scale will be paid in every department, but there will be no agreements of any sort."

Lamb declared the decision of the board was not an attempt to force union employees out of the city's employ. He said it merely meant the city was not tying itself up with any labor organization.

WASHINGTON REVIVAL BROUGHT TO A CLOSE

Sunday morning marked the close of a very successful revival which had been in progress during the past two weeks at the Washington Methodist Church. The services which proved such a blessing to the community, were conducted by Miss Alpha Cochran, Evangelist of the Kansas State Conference.

Miss Cochran's assistant, Miss Hendricks, of Ohio, and our pastor, Rev. Granville Jagers, were prevented from attending services regular on account of sickness. Nevertheless, the splendid sermons delivered by Miss Cochran were so helpful and beneficial that both saint and sinner could not but feel the grip of the eternal tugging at their heart-strings. They could only have been the product of a mind endowed from on high.

Altho there were only 24 professions of faith, there was a revival of the "Old Time" religious spirit and the people of this community fervently thank God that he put it into the heart of the talented little Kansas Girl to come their way, and deliver unto them His wonderful message of "The Old Rugged Cross."

May God's richest blessings rest upon her and may her good work continue, is the prayer of Washington.

EXCLUSIVE SELLING CONTRACT INVALID

Retailers Not Forced to Carry Out Pact Court Rules.

Washington, April 10.—Contracts of sale made by manufacturers requiring retail dealers exclusively to handle their products which may have the effect to lessen substantially competition, today were held invalid by the Supreme Court.

The opinion was delivered by Justice Day in a case brought by the Standard Fashion Company, a New York corporation, against the Magrane-Houston Company, of Boston, and sought to compel that retail company to observe a contract which the Supreme Court declared was one of sale and not of agency or joint venture. Being a contract of sale, Justice Day stated the only question to determine was whether the facts established that it would substantially lessen competition.

Adopting the findings of the Circuit Court of Appeals for the first circuit of the results obtained through the contract, the Supreme Court reached the conclusion "that the contract, properly interpreted with its restrictive covenant brings it fairly within the section of the Clayton act under consideration."

It therefore affirmed the decision of the Circuit Court which held the contract invalid.

Under its contract the Standard Fashion Company agreed to sell its standard patterns at a discount of 50 per cent from retail prices and allow certain return privileges when between certain dates semi-annually it would receive in exchange to nine-tenths cost, discarded patterns. In July, 1917, the Magrane-Houston Company decided to discontinue the sale of the Standard Patterns and place on sale patterns of a rival company. It was to enforce its contract that the fashion company brought suit.

MISS SCHLEMMER ACCEPTS POSITION AT PADUCAH

Miss Gertrude Schlemmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Schlemmer, who resides on Clay Street, and one of Hartford's brightest and most popular young ladies, left Monday afternoon for Paducah, where she has accepted a position as stenographer for the Creasey Corporation, of which A. C. Porter, another one of Hartford's citizens, is manager. Miss Schlemmer graduated from the Hartford High School in May, 1921, and in June entered the Branch school of the Owensboro Business College, which was being conducted in Hartford at that time. Late in the fall when the branch school closed here Miss Schlemmer went to Owensboro, and completed the course, which enables her to hold a responsible position. Together with the Republican force, the good wishes of the many friends of Miss Schlemmer, goes with her to her new residence.

BENSON—BAIZE

Mr. Erva H. Baize and Miss Marcia D. Benson were united in marriage at the home of the bride, last Sunday afternoon, April 9th, in the presence of a few close friends and relatives. Rev. Russell Walker performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Baize has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wallace, who reside on the Hartford-Beaver Dam road, for a number of years. The groom is a nephew of Mr. W. H. Baize, of this city, with whom he has resided for some time. Both of the contracting parties are very popular with the younger set, of which they were members.

SEARCHLIGHT USED IN CAPTURE OF PRISONERS

Honolulu T. H. April 8.—Searchlights played an important part in the pursuit of two military prisoners who escaped recently from the guardhouse at Fort Ruger on the outskirts of Honolulu and were finally responsible for their capture.

The two prisoners fled up the slopes of Diamond Head an extinct crater-headland behind which Fort Ruger is situated.

A posse was quickly organized and as it started the entire northern and western slopes of the crater were flooded with intense white light from the powerful searchlights at the fort.

VARYANCE OF PENAL LAWS IS ASSAILED

Different Penalties For Same Crime In Many States.

Washington, April 13.—(Capital News Service).—Senator Capper, of Kansas, has recently introduced a bill in the Senate to eliminate capital punishment in the District of Columbia. E. E. Dudding, president of the Prisoners' Relief Society, an organization devoted to assisting men and women who have served terms in the penitentiary and have no friends of their own when they come out, has written Senator Capper, asking that he include in his bill an amendment looking to the unification of penalties in the different states of the union.

Citing examples from the West Virginia penitentiary, where there are 200 Federal prisoners, Mr. Dudding says: "One is there for second-degree murder, and has life, while beside him are a hundred men serving five years for second-degree murder. There is one Federal convict serving life for manslaughter, and in the cell with him is a state prisoner with five years for the same charge."

"The highest penalty in Louisiana for larceny is two years, while in Connecticut it is twenty years. In West Virginia you steal $20—it is thirty days in jail. If you take $21 then you get ten years. If you want to stop crime and unrest, make laws just."

A further instance is noted in the daily press, in which a judge who sentenced a man to prison for three years for burglary, called him back to the bar and resented him to six years when the prisoner was rude to the court.

SIX HUNDRED MILLIONS SPENT ON ROADS DURING PAST YEAR

The Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture estimate the total expenditure for construction and maintenance of roads in the country in 1921 to be $600,000,000. The sources of this fund are approximately as follows: Motor-vehicle revenue, 19 per cent; State road bonds, 7 per cent; local road bonds, 33 per cent; State taxes and appropriations, 12 per cent; Federal aid, 14 per cent; county, township, and district taxes and assessments, 14 per cent; and miscellaneous 1 per cent.

ARBUCKLE FREED IN THIRD TRIAL

Jury Acquits "Fatty" of Death of Actress, Miss Rappe.

San Francisco April 12.—A verdict of acquittal was returned by a jury tonight in the third trial of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle on a manslaughter charge growing out of the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, motion picture actress. The jury was out six minutes.

The verdict was by acclamation, the deliberation taking less than a minute. The additional time was consumed by details.

The defendant was deeply affected. He received the verdict with a great sigh of relief. There was no demonstration, the court having warned against it. Mrs. Minta Durfee Arbuckle, the defendant's wife, cried quietly. Both she and Arbuckle shook hands with the jurors.

The quick return of the jury was a surprise.

Jurors and spectators crowded around Arbuckle and his counsel and finally bore him off to the jury room to congratulate him further.

"Arbuckle has no immediate plans," Gavin McNab, his chief counsel, said. "It was a splendid victory."

"The jury did its duty," was the comment of Milton T. U'ren, Assistant District Attorney.

The third trial began March 6.

Dr. Willis Lyons of Corbin, who had been attending the Dental Association in Louisville, came to Hartford Wednesday to spend a couple of days with relatives before returning home.

LLOYD GEORGE SEEKS WAY TO ABOLISH WAR

Will Propose Undertaking That No Nation Attack Another.

Genoa, April 12.—Prime Minister Lloyd George of Great Britain is expected to propose, at the earliest opportunity, probably at tomorrow's sitting of commission number one of the economic conference, a pact of undertaking that no nation shall attack another, thus abolishing the possibility of war during the pact, Reuter's correspondent today says he has learned.

Genoa, April 12.—Prime Minister Lloyd George of Great Britain contemplates suggesting an agreement for limitation of land armaments in Europe for a definite period, according to an unverified report, before the adjournment of the present international economic conference. The 'army holiday,' it is thought, will be patterned after the naval holiday completed at the Washington conference.

Disarmament continues to be the most discussed question among the delegates here, altho barred from formal consideration following the initial tilt between the French and Russian delegations when M. Chichester, Soviet Foreign Minister, endeavored to bring it before the conference.

The statement of Louis Barthou, head of the French delegation, to the Associated Press last night, explaining why France cannot discuss disarmament at Genoa will probably remain the basis of the French attitude on this question, despite the attempts of the Russian delegation or other national groups to raise the issue.

"This is a purely economic conference," said the French leader, again emphasizing France's position, "and we have simply got to stick to our agenda as America did at Washington otherwise we will get nowhere."

Asked if France would be disposed to discuss disarmament at some later conference, Mr. Barthou replied:

"If I wanted to say the easy, pleasant thing my answer would be yes, and yet the real answer of France is, 'We don't know.'"

"Don't forget that we have before us a great army in Russia, and, while Germany certainly is not a menace at present, we have a menace in the potentially great German army of the future. You have perhaps observed the anodyne texture of the German Chancellor's speech before the Genoa conference. We do not know what Germany will do, but I can say this—my latest official reports from Paris do not indicate that Germany is in a tractable spirit concerning the vital matters embodied in the Versailles treaty."

Mr. Barthou emphasized that a disarmament programme is now under consideration by the League of Nations, which, he said, would doubtless give it proper attention.

BILL PASSED TO PROVIDE 23 JUDGES

Senate Acts After Stout Opposition From The Floor.

Washington, April 7.—The bill to provide a score more of federal judges, advocated as a measure to relieve congestion in federal courts and opposed as a political patronage "pork barrel," was passed late today by the Senate and sent to conference with the House.

Twenty-three more federal district judges, distributed thruout the country, and one more judge for the Fourth Circuit, are provided by the Senate bill, as against twenty-two district judges under the original bill passed by the House.

The Senate voted on final passage, 44 to 21, with party lines broken. Eight Democrats, including Senator Pomrence, Ohio, voted with thirty-six Republicans for the bill. The opposition included eight Republicans and thirteen Democrats, the Republicans including Senator Townsend, Michigan. The Democratic opponents included Senators Shields, Tennessee, and Stanley, Kentucky.

The "pork barrel" and "logrolling" charges made on the floor by Democratic opponents and denied by its supporters, were followed by some vote changing during the dozen roll calls on amendments today. The bill finally contained provisions for four more district judges than recommended by the Senate Judiciary Committee. These include one each for New Jersey, New Mexico, the Western Missouri district and the Southern Florida district.

Allotment Given.

As passed by the Senate, the distribution of the twenty-three additional judges would be as follows:

Two each for Massachusetts and the Southern District of New York, and one each for the Eastern New York District, Eastern Pennsylvania, Western Pennsylvania and Northern Texas, Eastern Michigan, Northern Ohio, Northern Illinois, Minnesota, Eastern Missouri, Western Missouri, Oklahoma, Montana, Northern California, Southern California, Arizona, Georgia, New Jersey, New Mexico and Southern Florida.

The bill provides for an annual fall conference of senior circuit judges at Washington, with the chief justice and attorney general of the United States to make a comprehensive survey of judicial business and make bench assignments. It provides also for assignment by the chief justice of judges to districts where there is congestion or where the public interests generally require such assignment.

In adding the four judges the Senate voted down numerous amendments for other judges and to reduce the number authorized. Among those rejected was an amendment by Senator Ernst, Republican, Kentucky, for a judge for the middle Tennessee district, which was lost without a roll call.

An amendment by Senator Dial, Democrat, South Carolina, requiring judges to devote their time to duties of their offices and prohibiting their receipt of outside compensation, was adopted without a record vote. This was an echo of the Senator's criticism of former Federal Judge Landis after the latter's acceptance of a large salary as commissioner of organized baseball.

Assignment Section Fought.

Efforts to reduce the number of judges proposed for Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Missouri and California were defeated overwhelmingly.

The bill's provision for assignment of judges to other than their own districts was attacked by Senator Shields, who said it might result in transferring "dry" judges to "wet" districts. He also charged that paid lobbyists of the national Anti-Saloon League were working senators in behalf of the bill. Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, today, before the final vote on the bill, issued a statement declaring that the measure would "greatly aid law enforcement."

The statement added that when asked whether the league would take an active part in the choice of the new judges, Mr. Wheeler said: "We have but one policy—when an applicant for any of these positions is opposed to or prejudiced against the law and its enforcement we will file protest against him. This is the privilege and duty of every citizen and organization that stands for clean government and law enforcement."

NEW CORN PEST INVADERS THIS COUNTRY FROM MEXICO

A comparatively new corn insect that promises to become a serious pest has made its appearance in southern Texas and New Mexico, ac-ording to reports to the Bureau of Entomology of the United States Department of Agriculture. It is a boring caterpillar closely related to the larger corn-stalk borer of the South Atlantic States, and has been identified by the bureau as Diatraea lineolata Walker.

At least two generations occur annually in the Big Bend region of Texas and the full-grown caterpillars of the second generation hibernates in the corn stubble underground. During February many fields were found in this region in which 25 per cent of the corn stubble contained hibernating caterpillars. According to representatives of the bureau who have investigated the situation the distribution is very imperfectly known, but the pest is believed to inhabit most of southern New Mexico, particularly the Pecos River Valley, and is numerous in southwestern Texas.

Apparently, it is said, this pest is moving northward from Mexico, where it was abundant and very injurious last season. This species has been known to be present in southern New Mexico since 1913, and was studied in a preliminary way there by a representative of the bureau, in the early spring of 1914.

How Diphtheria Is Contracted.

One often hears the expression, "My child caught a severe cold which developed into diphtheria," when the truth was that the cold had simply left the little one particularly susceptible to the wandering diphtheria germ. If your child has a cold when diphtheria is prevalent you should take him out of school and keep him off the street until fully recovered, as there is a hundred times more danger of his taking diphtheria when he has a cold. When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given it quickly cures the cold and lessens the danger of diphtheria or any other germ disease being contracted.

INDIANS INVEST OIL MONEY IN PUREBRED POLAND CHINAS

While there may be but little truth in accounts of Indians who have become fabulously wealthy thru the finding of oil on their lands, it is interesting to learn from the county agent in Osage County, Okla., co-operatively employed by the United States Department of Agriculture and the State agricultural college, that a number of mixed-blood Indian farmers in this district receiving royalties from oil are investing a part of them in better live stock.

Osage County is becoming a center for purebred Poland China hogs, and many Indians are buying them. The county agent reports that 100 of the best hogs to be found anywhere have been distributed in the county during the year. These hogs were purchased from some of the best herds, and added to good foundation herds, which were already started in the county.

The rivalry which has been encouraged among the members of the local breeders' association has been of great benefit in this undertaking. There were about 200 hogs on exhibit at the county fair, and it was pronounced the best hog show in the state by the Judges.

DESTROY 500,000 GALLONS OF LIQUOR

Whisky And Wines Shipped From Ulster Dropped In Erin By Raiders.

Dublin, April 7.—Five hundred thousand gallons of wine and whisky were destroyed last night by members of the Irish Republican army who forced their way into the bonded stores of the Custom House here. It was stated officially today by a Belfast boycott official.

He estimated the revenue loss at nearly £2,000,000.

London, April 7.—"The chaos in Ireland is beyond anything the public can imagine," said a Dublin dispatch to the Morning Post today.

"Michael Collins is helpless and has few supporters. In fact he is besieged in Dublin. It is anticipated that a republic will be proclaimed in Ireland within the next few weeks."

The border trouble in Fermanagh County, a frontier county of Ulster is continually growing more acute according to a dispatch from Inniskillen. In the district of Belcoo armed Republicans and Orangemen have entrenched themselves behind barricades of sand bags and fallen trees. The "armies" are separated only by a thirty foot bridge and news of a battle is expected hourly.

The military defenses of Ulster are being strengthened. In some quarters fears are openly expressed that the Irish provisional government at Dublin will be overturned and that the Republicans will then formally declare war on Ulster.

Liquor Worth Thousands Destroyed
Belfast, April 7.—About 100 members of the Irish Republican Army forced their way into the bonded stores of the Customs house in Dublin last night, according to a dispatch received here and smashed the casks containing wine and whisky. The damage is estimated at hundreds of thousands of pounds.

The wine and whisky are believed to have been shipped from this city. The two policemen on duty in the store house were overpowered by the raiders who arrested two other officers searching for their absent comrades. All four were released when the work of destruction was completed. Nothing was destroyed except liquors of Belfast origin.

Southern extremists recently have destroyed much merchandise shipped from Belfast following the lifting of the boycott on such goods.

Armed Women Hold Up Station.
The barracks at Falcarragh, seven miles from Dunfarghby, have been seized by Republican forces.

Three women armed with revolvers left a train at the Dunfarghby Road depot in County Donegal today, held up the officials and burned the bundles of newspapers from Belfast. They then re-entered the train, which resumed its journey.

How Is Your Complexion?

A woman should grow more beautiful as she grows older and she will with due regard to baths, diet and exercise, and by keeping her liver and bowels in good working order. If you are haggard and yellow, your eyes losing their lustre and whites becoming yellowish, your flesh flabby, it may be due to indigestion or to a sluggish liver. Chamberlain's Tablets correct these disorders.

WOOL CROP HARVESTED FROM APRIL TO MAY 15

Lexington, Ky., April 8.—Most of the three million pounds of wool clipped in Kentucky as the annual crop of the State is sheared from April 15 to May 15, sheep men say. Profits from these fleeces make up from one-fourth to one-third of the total income from the State's flocks, the chief object of the Kentucky sheep raiser being the production of lambs for market, it is said. Late sheared fleeces are heavier than the early sheared because the wool fiber has grown slightly longer and more yolk has been secreted. It is claimed.

Some of the pointers outlined by sheep specialists at the College of Agriculture for increasing the profits from the wool clip include the removal of burrs before shearing, baying the sheep dry at shearing time, keeping the animals in dry, clean pens that are free from dust, having the shearing floor smooth, clean and bright keeping straw and trash out of the wool, removing the fleeco in one piece without any second cut, rolling the fleece toward the neck with the flesh side out, tying it with one strand of wool or paper twine and using only two strings to the fleece, one each way. It is important not to roll the fleece too tightly. Immediately after shearing, the fleeces should be packed in wool sacks and stored in a dry place, the specialists say.

HIS EARNING POWER IS NOW GREAT AS EVER

"Tanlac Certainly Did a Hundred Per Cent Job In Restoring My Strength," Declares Akron Citizen.

"Tanlac has simply made a clean sweep of all my troubles and built me up to where I am a strong and healthy man again," said Wm. N. Martin, well-known brick mason, 1164 Bellows St., Akron, Ohio.

"My troubles started with the flu, which left me almost helpless and the worst part of it was, I didn't seem to have power to rally again. My stomach was all upset and there were times after eating when I had a mean, stuffy feeling and felt I would give the world if I could just get one long breath. I was very much worried and began to think it wouldn't be long before I would lay my last brick."

"Tanlac has simply made a new man out of me and I am strong for it. It did a hundred per cent job in my case."

Tanlac is sold in Hartford by Dr. L. B. Bean and by all leading druggists everywhere.

HAILESTONES AS LARGE AS WALNUTS HIT INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, April 7.—Considerable minor property damage was done by a hailstorm here this noon, when ice globes as large as English walnuts pelted the city. Frenzied by the storm, a horse ran away and plunged into the canal, dragging a wagon with him. Police dragged the canal in the fear that the driver may have been in the vehicle. Heavy rainfall, with a slight electrical display, accompanied the hail.

A prudent mother is always on the watch for symptoms of worms in her children. Paleiness, lack of interest in play, and peevishness is the signal for White's Cream Vermifuge. A few doses of this excellent remedy puts an end to the worms and the child soon acts naturally. Price 30 cents per bottle. Sold by Ohio County Drug Co.

AMERICANS LIVE TOO HARD AND TOO FAST DOCTOR SAYS

Columbus, Mo. April 8.—"Americans live too hard and too fast. The chances of death after fifty years of life are increasing instead of decreasing. In the last twenty years the death rate during the first five years of life has been greatly lowered but for the later years of life it has not. It is poor economy to educate and train business men and women only to lose their services to the community and state when they reach middle life."

These are some of the deductions made by Dr. M. P. Ravenel professor of preventive medicine, in charge of the public health service laboratories at the School of Medicine of the University of Missouri. The Bureau of the Census has recently sent advanced information on now life tables, which are soon to be issued. This will be the second official publication on life tables ever issued in the United States, and figures are now available for the last twenty years.

"People are interested in health largely because they are afraid to die," Dr. Ravenel, who is also president of the National American Public Health Association, continued. "The true motive for health should be efficiency and not the mere prolongation of life."

"The results obtained by our Central Bureau shows that the death rate at practically all ages is higher for men than for women, and the women showing the lowest death rate are those living in rural communities. For both sexes rural dwellers show a lower death rate, age for age, than for persons living in cities."

"While the average span of life has increased for both sexes there is no evidence that there has been any actual increase in the years of life. This is explained by the fact that practically all classes of people are living longer on the average, and the greatest cause of this average increase is the saving of life in the first five years."

"In 1909 a white female was entitled to expect three years longer life than white males, and in 1910 this had increased to three and one-half years. Except for negroes, there has been a general improvement for all classes up to the age of forty for men and fifty for women."

"There has been a decided improvement among all classes of population in the infant death rate. Again, we find that children born in the country show a considerably lower death rate than those born in the city. However, it is not as great as it was in 1901, which indicates that the widespread efforts which have been put forth to better conditions in our cities have met with success.

Our Life Is Less.

"Comparing ourselves with the following foreign countries, Austria-Hungary, Denmark, England, France, Germany, Holland, India, Italy, Japan, Norway, Sweden and Switzerland, we find that, except for France, India and Japan, our expectation of life both for men and women is less favorable than in any of the foreign countries mentioned."

"In Norway, for example, which shows the lowest annual death rate for the first year of life, for every thousand the rate is eighty-one deaths for males and sixty-seven for females, while for the corresponding class in this country the rate is 127 for males and 105 for females. The most striking thing about these figures is the great improvement in our death rate during the early years of life and the lack of improvement after fifty years of age—in fact, after fifty the conditions in regard to certain diseases have become worse instead of better."

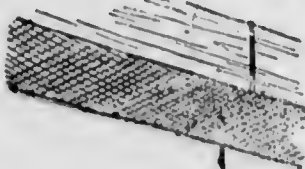

"The American lives too hard and too fast. It is poor economy to educate and train business men and women only to lose their services to the community and state just about middle life when they should be at their best."

"This is the problem which confronts physicians and sanitarians at the present day and one which demands the closest consideration not only from professional persons but from the community at large."

NURSE ACQUITTED WILL HURRY HOME

Miss Stone To Return to Her Mother
In Kentucky.

New York, April 7.—Miss Olivia M. P. Stone, graduate nurse who was acquitted by a Supreme Court jury in Brooklyn last night of the murder of Ellis Guy Kinkadee, former Corporation Counsel of Cincinnati, is going to hurry home to her aged mother in Tompkinsville, Ky., as soon as she can arrange her affairs here, she said today.

Fear that news of her trouble would upset her mother was one of Miss Stone's greatest concerns all thru the period between Kinkadee's slaying and her trial. She managed to keep her mother in ignorance of the case until the trial was nearly over, when Mrs. Stone learned of it and sent her a letter of sympathy.

Miss Stone spent last night at the home of Mrs. John Gross one of the matrons at Raymond-street jail in which she had been imprisoned. She went back to the jail after receiving her freedom intending to sleep in her cell but changed her mind at Mrs. Gross' insistence.

Today she went shopping for new clothes and took temporary quarters at the Young Women's Christian Association in Brooklyn.

"I intend" she said "to join my friends and go back to my profession as soon as possible. In work I may forget."

The jury that acquitted Miss Stone had deliberated ten hours. The announcement of the verdict brought cheers from several hundred persons crowded into the little courtroom. These spectators had waited for hours for the appearance of the jury.

When the foreman spoke in clear tones the words "Not guilty" Miss Stone's face brightened into a smile and almost inaudibly she added:

"Thank God it's over."

Mrs. Marie Gormley Kinkadee widow of the slain lawyer was not in the courtroom when the verdict was brought in altho she had been an interested spectator in all previous sessions of the trial which lasted nine days.

Bad breath, bitter taste, dizziness and a general "no account" feeling is a sure sign of a torpid liver. Herbine is the medicine needed. It makes the liver active, vitalizes the blood, regulates the bowels and restores a fine feeling of energy and cheerfulness. Price 60c. Sold by Ohio County Drug Co.

PILOT TO BLOW HOME ENDS IN FAILURE

Pittsburg, April 7.—A dynamite bomb which, the police say, was powerful enough to wreck a large building, was found early today under the dining room window of the palatial home of Mrs. Annie McMullin widow of Matthew McMullin millionaire steel man and stock broker the police announced this afternoon.

An alarm clock mechanism had been set to touch off the bomb at 2 o'clock this morning but it failed to explode.

The bomb was encircled in a suitcase in which were found thirty sticks of dynamite four dry batteries and a coil of wire.

Charred paper showed that sparks had been made by the ignition apparatus but a heavy rain is believed to have prevented it functioning properly.

MAN CONFESSES PART IN 30 BIG HOLD-UPS

Buffalo, N. Y., April 7.—Complicity in twenty-five or thirty big bank and railroad hold-ups in Western and Southern States was said to have been admitted today by Fred A. Perkins, 38 years old, arrested here Tuesday.

Perkins told the officers where they could recover $50,000 worth of Liberty bonds and stamps and gave information regarding the whereabouts of more than $200,000 worth of Government bonds and securities which, he said, were stolen by his gang in holding up banks and railroad trains in Oklahoma and other parts of the Southwest within the last eighteen months.

Federal agent said his statement had been verified in many details.

MAN FREED WHEN GIRL REFUSES TO MARRY HIM

Judge A. T. Burgevin yesterday ordered the dismissal of Fred Slater, who appeared in Criminal Court to answer to an indictment charging seduction under promise of marriage. This course was taken after the prosecuting witness, Irene Grippen, declared that she was unwilling to marry Slater, who had offered to do so, because, she said, he had talked about her.

Before the dismissal was ordered, William Kammerer, assistant commonwealth's attorney; Joseph Lawton, and Brent Overstreet, counsel for Slater, considered the advisability of proceeding with the trial when Mr. Kammerer suggested that the indictment be filed away with leave to revive. Overstreet insisted upon dismissal, and when Miss Grippen agreed to make a written declaration of her refusal to marry the man, Kammerer consented to dismissal.

NEWPORT POLICE CHIEF INDICTED

Covington, Ky., April 7.—The federal grand jury sitting here returned an indictment today charging Frank Bregal, chief of police of Newport, and his son, Frank Bregal, Jr., with unlawfully possessing and transporting liquor. Frank Bregal, Jr., conducts a saloon in Newport. Pleas of not guilty were entered on their behalf. On February 16, Chief of Police Bregal was cited with several other officials by soldiers on a charge of conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws. The charge in the indictment today has no connection with conspiracy allegation, it was stated.

WOMEN FAVOR "OBEY" IN WEDDING RITUAL

Chicago, April 7.—Several women holding high positions in Episcopal organizations today voiced disapproval of any attempt to eliminate the word "obey" from the marriage ceremony.

Mrs. E. F. Kenyon, member of the National Council of the Daughters of the King, which is meeting here, said she regarded the proposed change as an attempt to accommodate the laws of the church to the lowering standards of society.

Miss L. Breckenman, of Cleveland, Ohio, also a member of the council, said she favored keeping "obey" in the ceremony and also the words "with all my worldly goods I thee endow."

WOMAN 106 YEARS OLD REFUSES $500 JOB

London, April 8.—A Lincoln centenarian, Mrs. Lane Lister, who has just celebrated her 106th birthday by entertaining her doctor and his wife to tea, has doubled her claim to distinction by refusing an offer from Glasgow to star at a place of public entertainment at a salary of $500 a week.

This refusal is by no means inspired by misgivings on the score of health. Mrs. Lister is in the best of health and spirits—she played her role of hostess to perfection—retains all her faculties, and still reads the daily newspaper with undiminished interest.

Another Lincoln centenarian, Mrs. Foley, who will be 103 in May, lives within ten minutes' walk of Mrs. Lister.

FRANCE HAS 120,000 MILLIONAIRES—FRANCE

Paris, April 8.—Under the heading "Who Hasn't His Little Million?" a weekly review calls attention to the fact that from 30,000 millionaires in France before the war the number of persons rated at a million or more francs has expanded to 120,000 who own a total of 315,000,000 francs.

APE CREATED AFTER MAN SAYS FRENCH SCIENTIST

Paris, April 8.—Positive denial of the Darwin theory has been made before the Academy of Medicine by no less an authority than Professor Arthur Contier, famous author of numerous biological and medical works.

Contier bases his theory on the discovery of prehistoric remains in all parts of the world, which show, he asserts, that not only have the human being and the ape always been types apart, but that the ape was created after man.

At the same time he admits that man at one time walked on all fours, but he had always the gift of speech.

GERMANS COMPARE PAYMENTS OF FRENCH

Paris, April 8.—The total indemnity paid to Germany by France after the war of 1870 was 5,000,000,000 gold francs.

The total sum already paid by Germany to the allies since the armistice is 115,000,000,000 gold marks, or 14,375,000,000 gold francs—nearly three times the total indemnity paid by France to Germany.

This is the reply made by German reparations experts in Paris to the commission of reparations, which has issued an official report confirming the accuracy of the figures.

Administration Puts Business in Government

Encourages Individual Initiative, Establishes Budget System, Reduces Onerous Taxes, Restores Public Confidence and Stands for Sound Policies

U. S. REPRESENTATIVE HOMER P. SNYDER
(NEW YORK)

The Republican administration came into authority in March, 1921, pledged to put more business in government and to have less of government in business. That pledge has been liberally redeemed. One of the first things which the Republican administration did was to impress upon business interests that it was up to them to become self-sustaining; that they must begin to work out their own salvation instead of running to the Government for artificial stimulus. Legislation has been enacted wherever it could prove helpful, but it has not been permitted to take the place of individual energy and thrift.

Simultaneously with the elimination of Government in business there was an injection of business in Government. Perhaps what will go down as one of the greatest pieces of constructive legislation of the last half century was the enactment of a law creating a Budget Bureau, which made it not only possible but mandatory for the first time in the history of the United States Government to conduct the Government's business in an orderly manner. It is largely due to the inauguration of this budget system that the daily operating expenses of the Government have been reduced in the aggregate over $2,000,000 a day under this administration.

The business interests of the country were given consideration in the enactment of the new tax measure. Surtaxes were decreased, excess profits taxes were abolished altogether, and the shipping interests of the United States—which include practically every business and industry—were relieved from the burdensome transportation taxes that were levied upon freight, express and passenger traffic.

The Edge Act to facilitate the organization of corporations to promote exports was amended in order to render needed assistance to business interests endeavoring to expand America's markets in foreign countries, thereby increasing production and employment at home.

By rendering assistance to the agricultural sections the Congress kept alive the buying power of over half the nation's population. This aid, although extended directly to agriculture, was of vital importance to business.

Although no act of Congress figured in the process, nevertheless, the influence of the Republican administration, of which the Congress is a part, gave such confidence to the business world that within a year from the time the Republican party took control of all branches of the Government prices of practically all sound securities advanced materially. The most outstanding example of this is the increase of 15 per cent. in the value of $18,000,000,000 worth of outstanding Liberty bonds.

As another reflex of the influence of the Republican administration, interest rates have been lowered from 7 per cent. to 4½ within 12 months, thus releasing money at a reasonable rate for the use of business interests.

No one has the temerity to deny that business conditions today, compared with a year ago, are not infinitely better and that prospects are undoubtedly for further improvement. There is no other explanation for this transformation in the business world except the 12 months' application of Republican policies and the certain knowledge throughout the business world that the influences and policies of the Republican Party, which will direct the affairs of the nation for the next two years, are constructive influences that make for accumulation rather than waste, assist legitimate activities, stand four-squared for the protection of capital and labor and stand equally firm against the fallacious theories of Communism and Socialism.

In brief, the commercial optimism with which the people of all classes in the United States face the coming year must be wholly attributed to the fact that all branches of the Government of the United States are now in control of the Republican Party.

Congress Goes to Aid of Agricultural Industry

List of More Important Measures Written, Introduced and Passed by Republicans To Assist Farmers During Crisis

U. S. REPRESENTATIVE J. N. TINSCHER (KAN-SAS), MEMBER HOUSE COMMITTEE ON

Farmers of the United States not only comprise the largest single class of producers but they are the largest single class of consumers of finished products of all kinds, and the largest class of shippers. In view of all this, it is essential, in order that the country as a whole be prosperous, that the farmer as a class be prosperous.

When the Republican Party came into power in March, 1921, the agricultural sections of the country were in the midst of the greatest depression they had ever experienced.

In response to a general demand from the agricultural interests the Republican Congress, on May 27, 1921, 40 days after the session convened, enacted the Emergency, or Farmers' Relief, bill. This stopped at once the influx of agricultural imports and saved to the American farm producer his home markets.

The best proof that the tariff really protects the American farmer is the fact that since its operation Canada has renewed her efforts to negotiate a reciprocity treaty that will admit her agricultural products into this country free. As a further proof of the effectiveness of this tariff it was renewed November 16, 1921, by the solid vote of the congressmen representing the agricultural States. The enactment of this tariff was opposed by the solid Democratic minority in both House and Senate, with a few notable exceptions.

For more than a quarter of a century there has been a demand from the producers and consumers for control of the packing and allied industries. Responsive to this demand Congress enacted such a law. It cannot be gainsaid that the live-stock industry of the United States has had better treatment from the very day that this law began to operate. This bill was drawn by Republicans, introduced in both branches of Congress by Republicans, and passed by both branches of Congress controlled by Republicans.

For more than 40 years there has been pending before Congress, in one form or another, legislation to control grain exchanges and to stop the manipulation of prices of farm products. Such a law has been enacted by this Republican Congress. Like the packer control law, it was written by Republicans, introduced by Republicans and passed by Republican majorities.

One of the immediate and urgent needs of the farming communities was credit to tide them over their immediate crisis. In order to furnish this credit the Republican Congress amended the War Finance Corporation Act so as to enable that organization to have a revolving fund of $1,000,000,000 to be used exclusively in making loans to live-stock and agricultural interests. Since that body began functioning under its newly acquired powers it has been loaning money to the agricultural and live-stock interests of the United States at a rate in excess of $1,000,000 a day.

One of the earliest acts of this Congress was the appropriation of $2,000,000 to be used in the purchase of seed for the drought-stricken farmers of the northwest. Since that time legislation and appropriations have been made to assist drought-stricken farmers in other sections of the country, and also to relieve the settlers upon reclamation and irrigation projects.

Still another act of this Congress was the increase of the available capital of the Farm Loan Banks in the sum of $25,000,000, giving the Farm Loan Banks a total revolving fund of $55,000,000. This bill was written by Republicans, introduced by Republicans and passed by Republican majorities in both branches of Congress.

Modern methods in the commercial world have demonstrated the necessity of the farmer's being permitted to sell his crops under a co-operative system, and that this might be done legally and without interference or irritation, the present Congress enacted the Co-operative Marketing Bill. This is another bill written by Republicans, introduced in both branches of Congress by Republicans and passed by Republican majorities.

Honorable Henry C. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, truly summed it up when he said:

"Never in the same length of time did Congress give more serious attention to farm needs. All of the legislation is of a constructive character and will be more helpful than is now realized."

STANDARD OIL GRANTED RIGHTS IN PALESTINE

Washington April 7.—The Standard Oil Company has been granted exploring rights in Palestine by the British government, it was learned here today. At the State Department it was said advice from London were to the effect that the British government was to grant American concerns the same rights in the mandated territory of Palestine as were enjoyed by the nationals of any government signatory to the treaty of Versailles.

Some press reports from London today stated that the British government was prepared to grant equal opportunity to American nationals in all mandated territories given to Great Britain under the Versailles treaty, but officials of the State Department said they had no confirmation of such a sweeping decision. It was said, however, that there was nothing to indicate that the American contention for "equal opportunity" in mandated territories would be seriously opposed by any of the allied governments, and confidence was expressed that the American position soon would be formally recognized.

FRIDAY..... APRIL 14

Did you hear the willow wisp the ball Wednesday? The big leagues started all over again on that date and from henceforth all of the good sports who have business in the Cities will cut their cards so that business can be attended to when the home team is playing on the home lot.

If General Semenov, Cossack and Anti-Bolshevik one-time leader in Siberia, is all, or even a fractional part of what he is said to have been the United States would be committing a crime against common decency to permit one of such brutal instincts and utter disregard of life, right and wrong, to remain within the bounds of its jurisdiction.

To our Brother Editor who recently lost his Father we extend our sincerest sympathy. It was our good fortune to know the absent One intimately. He was truly a fatherly Father, sound in judgment and his life worthy of emulation. Notwithstanding the fact that Judge Fogle had been an invalid during the past two or three years he will be greatly missed by the community as well as by his son and other relatives.

Press dispatches state that the Coal Strike is spreading. Equitable means may be found at an early date for bringing the striking miners and operators together, although there appears to be no visible prospect of such an event. It looks very much like a tripple conflict with approximately ninety-seven per cent of the people as the suffering wedge, or occupants of "No Man's Land," unarmed and helpless 'twixt those who care but little as to what may happen to the great body of neutrals. One side to the difference says it cannot pay present prices or those in vogue recently. The other parties say they must have more pay and shorter hours. There is something radically wrong, where is it? If a neutral makes enquiry of one party and is content to stop there he understands and may be satisfied with the answer.
But if he happens to ask the other party to the difference he gets nowhere and is still at sea. Those school'd in mining affairs differ radically as to the merits and demerits of the ground occupied by the two warring elements, we have most generally found him to be a partisan of one camp or the other and therefore an unsatisfactory source of information. Some day this big neutral, sleeping party in-between is going to become thoroughly aroused and deliver a few blows in self-defense. It will not take long to win the battle once he gets going. He is to big and strong to be made the tool of those through and by whom both striker and operator must eat their bread.
We believe the average citizen is most generally in sympathy with the Employee rather than the Employer.
He naturally starts out a bit prejudiced, being human and himself looking to someone above, financially speaking, for his income. But of the disputes at the base of the present strike we can't state that we know enough to say just where the blame might attach. But we do state that in order to have it settled right and for a period of time long enough in which to have a good breathing spell, we announce our willingness to go into the coming winter without any coal in our little bin. The Miners and Operators will have no advantage over the great body of laymen when that day comes.

BAR ADOPTS RESOLUTIONS ON DEATH OF JUDGE FOGLE

At a meeting of the Hartford Bar and officers of the court held at the office of R. E. Lee Simmerman, April 7, 1922, the following preamble and resolutions touching upon the death of a distinguished member were adopted:

Judge Jesse E. Fogle, a member of the bar, departed this life, April 6th, 1922, at his home in Hartford, Ky., after a lingering illness lasting over a period of more than two years. He was born at Liberty, Casey County, Ky., April 7th, 1843 and was educated in the schools of that county and Kentucky University, now Transylvania University, at Lexington, Ky.
He joined the Christian Church in early manhood and was a consistent Christian during life though not actively identified with the church for many years. He was admitted to the bar at Liberty, Casey County, Ky., May 23, 1871, and located for the practice of his profession at Hartford, Ky., Sept. 4th, 1872. For a time he was associated in the practice of his profession with his uncle, Hon.
W. N. Sweiney and Judge James Stuart, of Owensboro, both of whom were distinguished lawyers. He was married to Miss Lella Addington, daughter of the late V. P. and Dorcas Addington, of Hartford, Ky., June 6, 1877. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. T. B. Petrie, of Indianapolis, Ind., and a son, McDowell A. Fogle, a respected member of this bar and editor of The Hartford Herald.

Be it Resolved by this Bar and officers of the court:

1st. That in the death of Mr. Fogle the bar of this county has lost an honorable and honored member; one who was learned in the law and a careful and painstaking practitioner.
His judgment in matters pertaining to his profession was accurate and clear and his ability placed him among the leaders of his bar and the bar of the state. We shall miss him from our midst. Altho his protracted illness had caused his withdrawal from active practice for several years, his cheery greeting and pleasant face still remain in memory.

2nd. That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the sorrowing members of his family and to each of the county papers for publication and be spread in the orders of the circuit and county courts of this county.

3rd. That the committee select and designate someone to present these to each court.

R. E. LEE SIMMERMAN,
C. E. SMITH,
R. R. WEDDING, Committee.

STRAY STREAKS

(By Fluke McFluke.)

If the weather don't warm up and the water get in better shape at an early date we are going to start in mightily behind with our fishing. We have a lot to do on our own account, besides we have promised Ike Mason that we would do his fishing for him.

Two of our former friends have been having trouble lately, due so one says, to too much promiscuous chatter concerning alleged things that never happened. We hope we are not to be drawn into their difference as a witness, 'cause we are neutral and pacifically inclined. We are going to treat each one of these Old Birds rather cool and chilly-like so neither will know what to do about trying to induce us to make a statement and if Howard and Louis fight a duel we shall not be present.

If the offer of a Chicago Architect to give the tenants of his apartments a bonus of $25.00 for every babe born therein was the only means of obtaining spending money we know of a bunch in this burg who would not be able to ask as to the price of a paper of pins.

The Genoa Conference did not start out very peacefully and the further it got the more it disturbed the peace of mind of the Russian spectators.

If everybody had his taxes paid for about ten years in advance wouldn't it be a grand and glorious old country to live in?

If Uncle Joe Wilson, who has commenced the preparation for the erection of his new building across the street from this office were to work two shifts he could do his work in half of the time. Besides, he would still have daylight in which to work.

We've noticed almost all of our life that the past is always behind and we somehow can't ever just catch-up with the future. We would not shift the future, but there comes times when we would like to shove a bit of the past into the future again.

We know of a woman who went fishing one Sunday and then again on Monday night. We wouldn't do more than half that bad. We would have at least refrained from going on Monday night.

MAGIC HEALER
MUST PAY BACK

The "beginning of the end" of a case that has attracted the interest of the colored people of the city came yesterday when John Miller, colored, was given until May 5 in which to pay back to Mattie Waters $12, the amount he is said to have charged her under his guarantee that he could cure her illness. The charge against the man was obtaining money under false pretenses.

Some weeks ago, Miller called upon the Waters woman, who is in ill health, and assured her that he would restore her to normal physical condition if she would use a certain "electrical pad," said to be possessed of remarkable curative powers. "Dr. Miller," it is said, directed his "patient" to rub the afflicted parts with the magic pad and the "patient" followed directions, she said, but she could discover nothing magic about the pad, which is alleged ed to have contained a very good grade of sawdust and sand. Miller stated that he would make restitution within the three weeks allowed, but it is likely that even after he does this, he will be given a jail term.—Louisville Herald.

YANKEE FANS SEEK RUTH'S SERVICES

New York, April 7.—Dyed-in-the-wool Yankee fans today started circulation of the petition to former Judge K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, requesting the reinstatement of Babe Ruth in the American League team's line-up that he may play the opening game of the season. G. C. Hill, who is sponsoring the petition, said tonight he had obtained 1,000 signatures in a few hours, and expected to have fully 20,000 before he presented it to Commissioner Landis.

The petition declares that it is the opinion of a majority of fans that Ruth's suspension until May 20, imposed when he persisted in playing on a "harmstorming" tour last fall, should be lifted, that the public might see him in action and that he may attempt to make another home run record.

"We do not censure Judge Landis for enforcing this rule," it says, "but we think he should consider the public and take steps to have the rule repealed."

FUNDS' MISUSE LAID TO PORTO RICAN GOVERNOR

San Juan P. R., April 7.—E. Mont Kelly Governor of Porto Rico Auditor Kessinger and Governor Kelly's private secretary, Harwood Mull, are charged in a grand jury presentment with misuse of public funds for private purposes.

There are four different counts against the men mentioned in the presentment.

The presentment which covers ten typewritten pages, expresses the belief of the grand jury that if present conditions had continued and the investigation been delayed one year the public treasury would have suffered considerable loss.

The district attorney is directed to prepare indictments and proceed against Mr. Kelly and the others on the basis of evidence and testimony obtained by them for the purpose of prosecution.

FRENCH AGAINST WOMEN HOLDING PUBLIC OFFICE

Paris, April 8.—Returns of a referendum taken by all chambers of commerce in France as regards the eligibility of women for election to chambers show that the majority are not in favor of women holding such positions.

The returns from Lyons state that the administration of justice in commercial tribunals demands qualities of calm and impossibility which are rarely found together in the female character.

FAMOUS UNCLES IN FICTION

Up to About Thirty Years Ago Mrs. Stowe's Hero Might Be Said to Be Favorite.

Who is the most famous uncle in literature? Thirty years ago only one answer could have been given. It would have been "Uncle Tom," who dwelt in the world-renowned "cabin," and whose sufferings did much to hasten the emancipation of his fellow slaves, London Answers states. He was only an "uncle" by courtesy, just as many an old woman is addressed as "granny" who has no other claim to that title except age.

Almost as well known today is another "uncle by courtesy," also a negro. This is the immortal "Uncle Remus," whom Joel Chandler Harris depicts so infinitely as relating to a little white boy the fanciful doings of Brer Rabbit, Brer Fox, Brer Tarapin and Brer B'ar. Uncle Remus is a universal favorite, and all the children are his nephews and nieces. Probably the most humorous uncle in literature is that Uncle Podger who hangs a picture in J. K. Jerome's "Three Men in a Boat," whilst undoubtedly the most saturnine is Uncle Ralph Nickleby, in Dickens' masterpiece, and the most horrible that frightful old miser uncle of David Balfour, in Robert Louis Stevenson's "Kidnapped."

The creator of Sherlock Holmes has a very attractive uncle in the best of his French novels, "Uncle Berne," and those who are above military age will recall the long-suffering "Uncle Harry," who endured a week's misery with "Budge and Toddy," in that once world-read book, "Telen' Babies."

HERE'S A BUDDING NOVELIST

Indiana Youngster May Yet Add to Long List of State's Successful Authors.

Ellis Hunter has a seven-year-old son, Lyman. Several days ago Lyman's teacher announced that all the pupils in the room were to write an original story. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter observed their young son lying on the floor pondering heavily on his contribution to Indiana's well-known stock of made-in-Indiana literature. When, at last, the job was done, the proud parents discovered that their youthful author had written a stirring narrative called "Jim and John." And here was Lyman's story: "One bright summer day Jim and John were playing in the dark. They heard a noise in the house. So they went in. They were all alone. They saw a burglar. They tip toed up stairs together for there gun. When they got up there they saw another burglar. So they tip toed around the other way and got a gun. Then they went down stairs and shot that burglar. Then they went up stairs and shot the other burglar and got all the things they had stolen. When their mother came home the boys told the whole story and they lived happy ever after."—Kansas City Star.

Weigh Elements of Universe. Atomic weights of nearly forty of the ninety chemical elements from which the universe is built have been determined by Prof. Theodore Richards and Prof. Gregory P. Baxter, according to announcement by Harvard University.

The figures were issued after 35 years of experimentation, and some of the data is being used by thousands of chemists throughout the world, the report says.

Among the facts discovered was that iron and nickel from meteorites have the same atomic weights as iron and nickel from the earth, indicating the unity of the universe. It was also found that silver and copper, wherever dug, are of constant weight, but that there are two weights of lead, that from radium materials being lighter than the ordinary kind.

Keeping Car's Temperature.

It is desirable during the transit of fruit in a refrigerator car to know the precise temperature in different parts of the car, for this temperature is seldom the same throughout the interior of the car. For this purpose the Department of Agriculture has now in use an instrument which is described in Popular Mechanics Magazine. It has twelve resistance thermometers for recording the temperature at twelve different parts of the car. The instruments are connected by a cable to a twelve-point plug that fits a socket on the recording box, so that a circuit can be established with any of the twelve thermometers. The exact temperature is shown on a register in one corner of the box and a chart shows the location of each thermometer.

"Moll Cutpurse," Notorious Thief. Mary Frith, sometimes called "Moll Cutpurse," a notorious thief in the time of Charles I (1625-1649), died of dropsy at the age of seventy-four. She possessed great physical strength, and frequently assumed man's attire. Having on one occasion held up Lord Fairfax on Hounslow Heath, she was captured and sent to Newgate, but escaped by means of bribery.

COOLIDGE SPEAKS IN DETROIT

Marvels At Organization And Efficiency Shown.

Detroit, April 6.—Vice President Coolidge concluded his two-day visit to Michigan this afternoon, as a luncheon guest at the Detroit Athletic Club, where he spoke briefly in praise of the Harding administration.

The Vice President was accompanied on his return to Washington by Representative Patrick A. Kelley, who had escorted him to Lansing, where he was last night the principal speaker at a Republican gathering. They left shortly after 1 o'clock.

Mr. Coolidge arrived from Lansing this morning, and after breakfast was taken for a tour of inspection of an automobile plant.

Commenting on this feature of his visit in his speech, the Vice President said he had "marveled at the organization and efficiency shown," and he continued, "We are trying at Washington to get the same organization and efficiency into federal government. We are reorganizing departments, trying to bring more of the efficiency of private enterprise into the nation's business."

"We are making progress," he added. The results of the arms conference were praised by the Vice President, who declared the four-power treaty had removed the threat of trouble from the Pacific, and had at the same time lifted a heavy burden from American taxpayers.

President Harding's administration, he concluded, "means peace abroad and prosperity everywhere."

AMERICAN ARCHITECTURE NOW LEADS THE WORLD

The past year was an especially interesting one architecturally, and showed the high quality of much of the architecture that America is developing both in public and domestic building, says an editorial in March Architecture.

We are all inclined to look with a critical eye upon new developments and rightly so, for only by eternal vigilance may we hope to awaken the public to the fact that we have developed a native architecture and that its future lies largely in their hands.

The public is not blind to some would have us think; on the contrary, it is keen of vision, but the vision is too often focussed badly and overlooks the more significant things that make up the material upon which to base a judgment of our architecture in general.

The monumental building in the way of a great public institution was splendidly represented in Mr. Cass Gilbert's noble library at Detroit, and Mr. James Gamble Rogers' Harkness Memorial at Yale University has been recognized as a really great achievement in modern collegiate gothic.

Mr. Macdonald's design for the Kansas City war monument solved a very difficult problem in a distinguished way, and Mr. Goodhue's bold and highly original design for the Nebraska State Capitol gives promise of a new and, we believe, desirable departure in the designing of civic buildings in general.

Certainly there is no lack of originality combined with great knowledge in such buildings as these, nor any cause to complain that our architecture is lacking in native initiative.

We must not overlook at the same time the high quality of our domestic architecture. Our modern city residences have shown large improvement in the matter of design, and, as for our country homes, many of them are far ahead of anything in Europe.

Anyone who wants to see where we are ahead of other countries in our domestic architecture needs only to compare the plans of a well-designed American house with its English equivalent, for instance. And we all know that there is nothing anywhere in the world to compare with our wonderful business buildings. The fact is, we are better planners in everything we build.

FARM DEPARTMENT.

2,000 Kentucky Farmers Keep Books On Business.

Lexington Ky., April 8.—Farm bookkeeping is on the increase in Kentucky this year, more than 2,000 farmers already having adopted the practice of keeping books on their farm business in record books compiled by farm management specialists of the College of Agriculture. It is reported.

Further steps to help farmers put their business on a better basis have been taken in the form of a number of farm management demonstrations held in different sections of the State by C. U. Jett, farm management extension specialist of the college. More than 500 of these demonstrations have been held to show farmers how to take an inventory of their farm equipment and start the records. It is said.

Some of the leading counties of the State in the number of farm records that have been started are Laurel, Ohio, Kenton, Calloway, Daviess, and Union. The number of record keepers in these counties range from 50 to 20.

Farm and Home News From Over Kentucky.

Cooperative shipping of carload lots of live poultry to Eastern markets is proving profitable for Breckinridge county farmers, County Agent R. M. Greene reports.

In an effort to improve their soils through the use of limestone, Laurel county farmers have set a goal of 150 cars to be used in that section of the State this year, according to County Agent P. B. Wilson. During one month, two carloads of the material were received and distributed each week, he added. Farmers in three communities reduced the cost of their fertilizers by pooling orders.

Crittenden county farmers recently received five and one-half cents a pound more than the local price for live poultry by cooperatively shipping a carload to market, according to County Agent John R. Spencer.

Increased interest among Morgan county farmers in soil improvement is marked by an increase in the amount of fertilizers purchased and the larger acreage of legume crops which is being planned, County Agent R. B. Rankin says. This year about twice as much phosphato has been purchased as in former years while the acreage of legumes will be doubled, he said.

Sweet clover is attracting considerable attention from Breckenridge county farmers this year, County Agent R. M. Greene reports. Forty farmers will cooperate with Mr. Green and the College of Agriculture extension division in growing an acre or two each to show the possibilities of the crop for that section of the State.

90 Per Cent of Chicks Raised on Station Farm.

Lexington, Ky., April 12.—Prevention of chicks diseases along with recommended methods of feeding and management make it possible to raise 90 out of every 100 chicks that are hatched on the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station farm, it is said. On some farms in the State, not more than one-half the chicks that hatch are raised while in several cases, the loss of all chicks has been reported, the station poultrymen say. A large percentage of the heaviest losses is due to some of the common chick ailments which could have been prevented, according to J. R. Smyth, extension poultryman.

"The most common of these is white diarrhea which is found in two forms. Bacillary white diarrhea, which is contagious and is transmitted from hen to chick thru the egg, is not common in Kentucky. Most cases of this disease found in the State are the common white diarrhea caused by chilling, overheating the chicks, feeding them too soon or overfeeding them. Buttermilk or sour skim-milk will aid in curing and controlling this trouble.

"Gapes also is responsible for many chick losses, this trouble being caused by grape worms getting in the windpipe. These worms live in the ground and come up on the grass blades when the dew is on them. Putting the chicks on ground where chicks have never been raised before and plowing up the old runs and seeding them with a crop is a preventive measure for this trouble. If this cannot be done, it will help to keep the chicks off the grass in the morning until the dew is gone. Three drops of creolin added to each pint of the chick's drinking water also is helpful.

"A few cases of leg weaknesses have been reported from various parts of the State this year. Feeding milk or a ration containing bone meal helps to control this trouble. Getting the chicks out on the ground as soon as possible is an important point in controlling leg weakness. If the weather is unfavorable, a piece of sod turned bottom side up may be pinned in the house. Feeding the grain in a little to induce exercise also is an important point."

Poultry Hatcheries Being Inspected in Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin poultry hatcheries are the only ones in the United States which are under State regulation and inspection, according to information collected by the United States Department of Agriculture. Because of the menace to the poultry industry thru the sale of young chicks of inferior quality and breeding, the State Department of Markets and the poultry department of the University of Wisconsin have established regulations and requirements for hatchery flocks and for hatcheries, and those that fill the requirements and live up to the regulations will be known as "Wisconsin Inspected and Accredited Hatcheries and Hatchery Flocks." A list of the accredited hatcheries and flocks has been prepared and published. Chicks purchased from hatcheries on the list bear the mark of the Department of Markets, which gives assurance that they are standard bred and from reasonably good egg-producing strains. Inspectors issue certificates to owners of hatcheries and flocks that fill the requirements.

Big Cows Give More Profit Association Figures Show.

Figures collected from various cow-testing associations thruout the country and compiled by the United States Department of Agriculture tend to confirm the previous conclusions of the department that with in the breeds, so far as they were represented by these animals, which were mostly grades, the large cows are the biggest producers of dairy products and are also the most profitable. The evidence seems to point to the fact that in the individual farmer's herd it will be found that on the average the larger cows are more profitable than the smaller ones, although there are some indications that this may not hold true in the case of herds of native cattle containing much beef blood.

The cows whose records have been used by the department have been sorted out so that only mature animals were used for these comparisons thus eliminating any differences that might have been caused by the immaturity of some cows.

In one group for which figures have been prepared there were 160 cows classified as small, 201 as medium, and 129 as large. The small cows averaged 243 pounds of butterfat a year, and made an income over the cost of feed of 77.39. Those of medium size made 289 pounds of butterfat and an income over feed cost of 88.91. The large cows produced 345 pounds of butterfat and a return above feed cost of 105.74.

In another group there were 561 small cows, 483 classed as medium, and 326 large. Those in the first classification made 240 pounds of butterfat on an average and an income over cost of feed of 89.11. The mediums made 278 pounds of butterfat and $106.09 over feed cost. The large ones produced 299 pounds of butterfat and an income over feed cost of 108.29.

These tables were based mostly on figures for the years 1916 to 1919, inclusive, which accounts for the high average income over cost of feed.

New Varieties of Oats in Iowa, New York, and Idaho.

The production of high-yielding varieties of oats for various conditions has been the principal problem in connection with the breeding of spring and winter oats during the past year by the United States Department of Agriculture in cooperation with State agricultural experiment stations. Practically all of those so far produced have been pure lines selected from commercial varieties, but efforts are also being made to combine the different qualities of good strains by hybridization. Studies are being carried on in cooperation with cereal-disease workers on the resistance of oat varieties to stem rust, crown rust, and smut. The few varieties which appear to be resistant to these diseases are not commercially important, and are being combined with better commercial varieties in the hope of producing resistant strains which will produce high yields of good quality.

In New York four pure lines have been named and distributed to farmers through the Cornell University agricultural experiment station. These are the Cornellian Cromwell, Standwell and Empire. The Cornellian is a comparatively early variety with certain drawbacks which suggest the need for hybridization with some of the better varieties of white oats. Cromwell, Standwell, and Empire are selections from midseason white oats which are giving favorable results in different sections of New York.

The logren, a high-yielding selection from Green Russian, one of the most popular varieties in northern Iowa, was first distributed in 1921 through the Iowa station. This variety should be valuable in northern Iowa, northern Minnesota, and in other States with similar climatic conditions. The Idamine, a high-yielding, pure-line selection from Silvermine, developed at the Aberdeen (Idaho) substation, was first distributed in 1921, when several hundred should prove popular generally for growing on irrigated lands in Idaho and adjoining States.

Heredity The Reason for Black Lambs in the Flock.

The appearance of black lambs in a flock made up entirely of white sheep has been for ages, and is still, a cause for wonder and the basis of superstitions. But the study of the laws of breeding and heredity has explained the reasons for the sporadic appearance of these off-color specimens. In a letter to a farmer who reported 25 black lambs, from a flock of 175 purebred Shropshire ewes all white and who considered certain feeds the cause, the United States Department of Agriculture gives a clear statement of the principles involved.

Feeding and management of sheep, says Dr. Sewall Wright, specialist in animal genetics, have nothing to do with the appearance of black lambs. The black color is hereditary even though it may be transmitted by ordinary white sheep. The black color in such a case is what is called a recessive character. White sheep which transmit this character at all transmit black in 50 per cent of their reproductive cells (ova in the case of ewes and spermatozoa in the case of rams) and white in the remaining 50 per cent. Thus, such white sheep mated with blacks (which can only transmit black) produce 50 per cent black lambs and 50 per cent white. All of these white lambs can transmit black.

White sheep which transmit only white, mated with blacks, produce only white lambs, but all of these lambs can transmit black. When both ewe and ram are white, but both transmit black, about 25 per cent of the lambs are black, 50 per cent are white, which transmit black, while the remaining 25 per cent are true-breeding whites. In this case it is an even chance that a given ovum will transmit black and an even chance that it will be fertilized by a male cell which transmits black, making one chance in four that both transmit black, which is necessary for the production of a black lamb.

With 25 black lambs appearing in the flock, it is indicated that about 100 of the 175 ewes transmit black, assuming that all of the rams used transmit it. If not all the rams transmit this color, then it is probable that an even larger number of ewes transmit it.

Department of Agriculture Bulletin 905, Principles of Live Stock Breeding, contains a detailed discussion of this problem. It may be obtained from the Superintendent of Public Documents, Government Printing office Washington, D. C., for 15 cents.

Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative power of Hall's Catarrh Medicine that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. ### COLD MEAT.

Cold meat will not be tough when reheated if it is not allowed to cook. Heat the gravy, then set on back of range or in oven. Put thin slices of meat into this and let it stand a few minutes before serving, but be sure not to let it cook. Cold roast beef prepared in this manner is delicious.

PATENT BILL OPPOSED BY WAR DEPARTMENT

Washington April 6.—A conflict between the War Department and Patent Office over Secretary Weeks' proposal to curb American patent rights of foreigners developed today at the outset of hearings before the Senate Patents Committee on a bill by Senator Stanley Democrat Kentucky embodying Secretary Weeks' recommendations.

Representing the War Department Lieut. Col. J. I. McMullen urged the committee to report the bill while Thomas E. Robertson, commissioner of patents vigorously opposed its enactment because of the policy of compulsory licensing of patents.

SEARCH MADE FOR ESCAPED CONVICT

Eddyville Ky. April 7.—Search is being made of the vicinity of Eddyville and a close watch kept on the home of the prisoner's wife in this county following the escape from the penitentiary hospital—Thursday of George Rice, sentenced to life imprisonment in Campbell County seven years ago for the slaying of Allan Davis, in what was known as the "box murder" case.

Warden John M. Chilton said he discovered that the prisoner's wife was nearby. Rice had been in delicate health and was inclined to tuberculosis. Warden Chilton said, and had been taken off contract labor eight months ago. He escaped by going thru a trap door in the floor leading to the heating pipes, and cutting out a ventilator in the foundation during the night. The hospital is visited only once hourly during the night.

Rice was a good prisoner, the Warden said, and would have been eligible to parole in June.

The fugitive is about 45 years old. He was convicted after an investigation conducted by Dr. J. M. Digby, then coroner of Campbell County, after Davis' body was found in the river, encased in a box.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

The great benefit derived from the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been gratefully acknowledged by many. Mrs. Benjamin F. Blakeney, Decatur, Ill., writes, "Chamberlain's cough Remedy is by far the best medicine for colds and coughs we have ever used in our family. I gave it to my children when small for croup and have taken it myself."

100,000 GERMAN JEWS IN WAR; 12,000 KILLED

By Karl H. Von Wiegand. Berlin, April 8.—About 100,000 German Jews were under arms during the late war, four-fifths of whom were in active service at the front. Twelve thousand of this Jewish contingent never returned to their homes, having fallen on the field of battle or succumbed to one of the many war epidemics. Decorations for distinguished service were conferred upon one-third of the entire number 2,000 being advanced to the rank of officers.

These statistics are published in a pamphlet called "The German Jew as a soldier in the war of 1914-18," and are designed as a refutation of the anti-Semitic propaganda to the statement being put forward by effect that the Jews, whenever possible tried to avoid active military and that the Jews of Germany, England and France are now conspiring to form a "Jewish World Supremacy," to further the latest of Jewry. Irrespective of the effect such a combined action would have upon interests of the individual countries.

Surgeons agree that in cases of cuts, burns, bruises and wounds, the first treatment is most important. When an efficient antiseptic is applied promptly, there is no danger of infection and the wound begins to heal at once. For use on man or beast, Borozone is the ideal antiseptic and healing agent. Buy it now and be ready for an emergency. Price 30c, 60c, and $1.20. Sold by Ohio County Drug Co..

Colds & Headache

"For years we have used Black-Draught in our family, and I have never found any medicine that could take its place," writes Mr. H. A. Stacy, of Bradyville, Tenn. Mr. Stacy, who is a Rutherford County farmer, recommends Black-Draught as a medicine that should be kept in every household for use in the prompt treatment of many little ills to prevent them from developing into serious troubles.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

"It touches the liver and does the work," Mr. Stacy declared. "It is one of the best medicines I ever saw for a cold and headache. I don't know what we would do in our family if it wasn't for Black-Draught. It has saved us many dollars . . . I don't see how any family can hardly go without it. I know it is a reliable and splendid medicine to keep in the house. I recommend Black-Draught highly and am never without it."

WASHINGTON COMMENT

It's a very funny world! And there are a lot of very funny people in it. Some of them are located in Atlantic City from which municipality of serious vacationing comes the news that the Superintendent of Schools has assembled his feminine teaching staff and warned them, doubtless with the gravity due so serious a subject, that they must not bob their hair if they expect to retain their jobs as purveyors of information to the youth of Atlantic City.

The cogent reason alleged for the prohibition is that bobbed hair is "not dignified."

It must be wonderful to be a school superintendent with such a fund of knowledge, and to set so high a standard for teachers. Curious people may wonder what will happen to a teacher with hair naturally short, or one who has to have it bobbed because of fever. For, of course, if short hair is undignified it is undignified, regardless of the cause of said indignity unless, indeed, it is proposed to put an O. K. label on natural short hair or short hair acquired for medicinal reasons.

It would be a matter of some interest to know this official's views upon sport shoes, sweaters, short skirts, Atlantic City bathing suits, the reading of Freud, Sunday movies, and chewing gum, and his ratiocination regarding textbooks, training, ability to teach, personal sympathy with children and standing of classes under the non-bobbed-haired would certainly be worth hearing!

Dispatches from Rome indicate to an anxious world the probability that the Vatican will send a note to the heads of the delegations to the Tenth conference, which will set forth, among other things, the views of Pope Pius on the necessity of a lasting peace and the belief that economic reconstruction can best be obtained by universal disarmament.

The devout Catholic will find in this cause for jubilation. The average reader will recall the peace policy of the Vatican during the war and wonder, if the several pronouncements upon the subject before, during and after the conflict had no effect, what particular result is expected from this most recent proposal. The limitation of arms conference at Washington accomplished some things—it didn't accomplish limitation of land armaments, simply because the nations were not ready for such a step and it was found that they wouldn't do it!

If they wouldn't do it then, will they do it because the Pope says they ought? And if they won't, what is going to be accomplished by the Vatican statement that they should?

Stomach Trouble?

Health is Most Important to You. Columbus, Ga.—"Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is certainly a grand medicine for stomach trouble. I have suffered greatly all my life from a disordered stomach. My food seemed to set so heavy, no matter what I ate. I have taken many of the medicines advertised for this trouble, but none of them has ever come up to Golden Medical Discovery for giving prompt and lasting relief. Whenever I have a sluggish liver, with sick-headaches and constipation, I have found Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets a very efficient remedy. They do not gripe or cause any other distressing condition such as a great many pills do."—Mrs. Laura Kimbrough, 3503 Erlene Avenue.

Obtain this Medical Discovery of Doctor Pierce's at your nearest drug store, in tablets or liquid, or send 10c. to Doctor Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package, and write for free medical advice.

Sulphur Springs country, now a half century ago, my father excited my interest and gratified my curiosity by recounting to me his visits when he himself was a boy, to the Trappist Monastery, which was near his former home in Nelson county. Through all the intervening years I have kept a lively hope of visiting that strange Community, and only last week that pleasing expectation was gratified.

My friend, Tom Sweatt, deputy surveyor of the Port of this city, was called to the Monastery to inspect some sacred statuary that had been imported from France, and I made the trip with him.

Arriving at the little way station, Gethsemane, on the Lebanon branch of the Louisville and Nashville railroad we were met by a Monk, hooded and cowed, the pattern of dress these people have worn for now more than fourteen hundred years. A well-kept horse and a two-seated spring wagon conveyed us to the Monastery, a mile and a half away. Perpetual silence is one of the vows of the members of this order, and our driver would say little more than "Aye, Aye, or Nay, Nny," to the few inquiries we ventured to make of him.

Arriving at the Monastery we were met by a strange spectacle; a city block in the midst of a wilderness. The building which is three stories high is built in the form of a hollow square, and encloses a garden rich in flowers and shrubbery brought from many lands. To the South spreads out a beautiful and rich table land, but East, West and North rises those picturesque conical knobs, that are so common in that section of the State.

The front lawn is also a garden of flowers and shrubbery and is surrounded by a wall, the gate to which is always locked; not to keep the inmates from escaping but to secure the institution from unannounced disturbance. In the center of this lawn is a beautiful and imposing statue of the Blessed Virgin, the first object of holy interest to arrest the attention of the visitor.

At the door of the great building we were met by a Brother in white who with whispered directions escorted us to the office of the Abbot, Father Obrecht. Here we stood in the presence of one of the most learned and traveled ministers in the United States; a man who has visited every civilized country on the globe, and who has been honored with receptions by popes, kings and presidents. But with all of that he is simply democratic, and made us feel quite as much at ease as if we were old and favored friends. The Abbot is the prince and master of the institution. His word is law and, as obedience is one of the chief vows of members of the order, his rule is absolute.

The Monastery is the home of eighty-two clerical and lay brothers, for both priests and laymen embrace the order. The priests wear cowls of white and the lay brothers brown. The priests attend the administration of the institution and the laymen perform the labor of barn and field. There are several thousand acres of the estate and farming, dairying, stockraising and fowl breeding are the chief industries, besides there is a saw mill where all needed lumber is cut for use on the estate and the wheat is ground for flour.

Completing our business with the Abbot the sub-prior took us for an inspection of the institution. We went first through the great library which comprises, I believe, more than thirty thousand volumes, religious, scientific and literary. Three large rooms are required to store the numerous collection of books and manuscripts. We were conducted next to the sleeping quarters, and these were of no little interest. Long tiers of stalls, separated, but close together, with narrow beds covered only by a little straw and with a blanket for a covering, from the sleeping quarters for these humble people. Sleeping, as everything else here, is regulated by rigid rules.

At seven in the evening these Monks retire to their boards of straw and arise promptly at two in the morning. They then retire to the chapel where they engage in private devotion until four when they begin the labors of the day. However, an hour is added to the period of sleep, from one to two in the afternoon. When this hour arrived Mr. Sweatt and myself were shown to a nicely furnished visitors' room provided with two beds and told we were at liberty to join in the siesta. But with a pitcher of water and a box of cigars on the table, we drank and smoked while the "religious" slept.

Just to return to our visit about the premises. We were taken thru the Chapel where religious service is held. Here was an altar for the priest and seats for the Brothers, but we were told that only the sick or physically weak sat during service; it being the custom for all to worship standing, when not kneeling.

Then to the kitchen, which was a model of neatness and cleanliness but everything was extremely simple. A metal knife is provided but the fork and spoon are wood, such as was used in Europe two thousand years ago. On the large range were big caldrons or kettles for brewing soup, this being the chief diet of these abstemious people. Although it was Lent and these people were practicing unusual fasts, Mr. Sweatt and myself were served with a dinner fit for a Prince. We had specially cured bacon, squabs raised on the premises, eggs, fruits, vegetables and a bottle of wine.

The Museum was the next station of interest, and here we saw indeed, many strange and interesting relics. Chief of these were the gods of pagan people, gathered from the very ends of the earth and from all ages of man's development. Here were gods of wood, of clay, of stone, of porcelain and of brass. Some of them were being worshipped on pagan altars before the Pharaohs ruled in Egypt and perhaps before Noah's flood. Scarcely less interesting were the bows and lances and spears and helmets and greaves and buckles, many of which were already ancient at the time of the siege of Troy.

The Abbot's collection of rare books and manuscripts was not the least interesting feature of our inspection. Here in a little room only about a dozen feet square was a collection of the industry of former men and time worth a Prince's fortune. When shown a book of the twelfth century I was amazed at the perfection of the printing and the preservation of the ink, and could scarcely resist the temptation to ask the good Abbot how this book could be of the twelfth century when printing was not invented till three hundred years later, but restrained my curiosity least I appear to question the Abbot or expose my own ignorance. But when he showed us one of the thirteenth century I dared the question of the date of printing, and was astounded at the information that the printing had been done by hand. Somewhat schooled in printing, I was yet unable to detect the work of human hands.

The dairy with its thirty cows was a model for order and cleanliness. While we were watching the cows eat, a cowed and hooded Monk was sweeping the concrete floor with a broom. Out in the field many Monks were at their daily task of preparing the soil for the season's crop. Working in field with bare heads and maintaining perpetual silence these Monks present a strange and touching spectacle. Except in the confessional these men who spurn the pleasures of earth in anticipation of the glory of Heaven, never speak. Many of these people do not know that a great world war has been fought. Nothing secular that occurs after they enter the Monastery is ever known to them, and no conversation other than about sacred things is ever indulged among them.

Why this life? The sentiment of retiring from this world to more fitly prepare for the next is very ancient; older, much older than the Christian era. Mohammedan Monks were numerous in India and Persia at least four centuries before Christ. The first Christian Monasteries were founded about three hundred years after Christ and are still numerous in the Catholic countries of Europe. The theory of this form of life is that by withdrawing completely from the world the soul is free to work out its way of salvation. Living in perpetual poverty, silence and obedience to religious superiors one is living as nearly as possible outside the atmosphere of earthly temptation and the closest life to Heaven that is possible to men.

Somewhat in love with the world in spite of its disappointments, I feel no temptation to become a Monastic, but after spending a day among these men who have given up all the pleasures of Time to fit themselves for Eternity I can not withhold my admiration for that spiritual courage that can inspire so noble a sacrifice.
